StripMine™ Full Text Search for GoldMine Released

Powerful search tool gives GoldMine users ability to search email, history, and contact data with a simple mouse click.

Petaluma CA -- July 21, 1998: Building upon its position in the GoldMine Third Party arena, Z-Firm has shipped a tool that lets users search their GoldMine data the same way they search the Web. StripMine offers powerful search logic to instantly retrieve email messages, history records, and contact data based on any words typed in the notes or fields. Email messages from months ago can be recalled instantly by searching the actual body of the email using compound searches that can include AND, OR, NEAR, NOT, and phrase operators.

"Every GoldMine user can get great mileage out of this tool," said Rafael Zimberoff, StripMine product manager. "Not only does it make GoldMine data more accessible, it lets people use GoldMine for new purposes, such as executive search skill matching."

"StripMine is a valuable add-on tool that allows current GoldMine users more flexible search options," said Jon V. Ferrara, executive vice president, GoldMine Software Corp. "StripMine works just like familiar Web search engines, so users can retrieve data and results instantly."

The StripMine indexer pre-scans the GoldMine data to make searching lightning-fast. Indexing can be set to run automatically at any time, and can even run while network users continue to use GoldMine normally. To manage the amount of data indexed, StripMine allows the administrator to configure index jobs to index only recently entered GoldMine data.

StripMine runs on any Windows95, Windows98, or NT 4.0 PC, and supports all networks that are compatible with GoldMine, including WindowsNT 4.0, NetWare, and others. StripMine is available for trial download at www.zfirmllc.com, and will be sold via a Web store (date) and GoldMine Authorized Solutions Partners.
